

Skills development and bonding the team

Fathom learning provided a nine module development programme and Team Management Inventory for delegates to address management skills development within the business and support in bonding the team in terms of both their learning time and their daily working practices.

The programme delivered by Fathom was presented in a relaxed and informative manner, drawing in meaningful contributions from all. Delegates were complimentary about the benefits gained from the course and how they could relate content back to real day to day situations, thus feeling more confident in how they manage their departments. In particular they felt it bonded them as a management team across the business, inviting them to stand back and look at the bigger picture rather than rush in, work more as a team and have better communication in order to bring all functions of the business together. As one delegate stated , “The main benefit I believe we all gained is how it made us recognise that it’s not ‘our’ department that’s to succeed - it’s the company as a whole”.

Case study Testimonial

Nichola Glossop, Learning and Development Manager
The Swift Group

